

7TH NATIONAL BLACK LAND LOSS SUMMIT
Theme: Land Up Close & Personal: Bases for Economic Development

3RD WEEKEND - FEBRUARY 18 - 20, 2005
BEGINNING ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON
Tillery Community & Historic Franklinton Center at Bricks, North Carolina

Proposal to connect with our future on Feb. 17 and 18 on college campuses of

NC A&T State University, Shaw University, NC State University

WHY A SUMMIT? The African American people are becoming a landless people in the United States. We are loosing the land and wealth that our parents, grandparents and great grand parents worked, fought and died to acquire for us. We owe our ancestral warriors a debt. USDA has not helped us. Who will help us? WE must help ourselves "by insuring that the next generation is ready to control the land. "Come and let us plan together (our enemies do)."

Discussion Topics: - Land and People of Color - City Cousins Becoming Country Land Owners - Black Family Land Trust - Global Black Farmers -Forestry and Conservation - Civil Rights at USDA - Civic Education and Land Ownership - Black Farmers & the Civil Rights Movement - Farm Land and Real Estate Development - Growing Sustainable Food.
